WHAT WE'RE LEARNING

November was short on days but we packed in a lot of learning! In all grades, we celebrated Native American Heritage Month by reading stories by and about Indigenous people. We also had lots of fun reading different stories about gratitude and the Thanksgiving holiday. Many classes earned their 5-star rewards this month and got to enjoy some of the building materials and games we have here in the library!

Brandon built a time machine! (It wasn't that hard.)

Now, he can visit super cool moments in world history (as well as family history). But what Brandon really wants to do with his time machine is FIX HIS HOMEWORK. (He might have done poorly because he was busy building his time machine.)

Will future Brandon be the solution to all of past Brandon's problems? Or is not wanting to do homework a timeless dilemma?

Good dog Chester Barkingham moves into his forever home—the White House!—when he's adopted by the president's daughter. The president sends memos to let everybody know about Chester joining the staff and, soon enough, the trouble he gets into.

The president has other things to worry about, though. Congress can't seem to get along, and bills are getting stalled as both sides argue and debate. Chester knows just what to do about the deadlock...if anybody would listen to him. When Chester starts sending memos of his own, Capitol Hill turns upside down—which may be just what everybody needs.

Horse is ready to try some BIG skateboard tricks . . . and his best friend Buggy has some tricks of his own on how Horse can avoid getting hurt. From tightening helmet straps to bandaging bruised butts, there's no such thing as too much fun with this dynamic duo—especially because they're playing it safe. Ethan Long's expressive, slapstick-style art brings the laugh-out-loud story to life in this early reader that really sticks the landing.

NEW BOOKS ADDED THIS MONTH

No teacher has ever liked Carter Avery. So he doesn't expect that Ms. Olivia Krane will be any different. In fact, he heard the rumor that the new teacher—nicknamed Owl-livia, or the Owl, for short—can twist her head all the way round to catch any kid who's up to no good. And since Carter has a hard time sitting still and not blurting stuff out, he's sure he's in for rough times being sent to the principal's office. Making things worse: annoying know-it-all Missy Gerber is in his class!

But the Owl knows just how to handle Carter's energy, showing his classmates another side of him. Everything's looking up until Carter finds out that some people would like to see Ms. Krane replaced. The news spurs him on a secret mission to save his teacher. Then a disruption, heated words with Missy, and trouble outside of school test Carter's plan, heart, and courage, as he navigates an especially tricky school year.

Two sisters, one stubbornly cheerful (Beatrice) and one relentlessly grumpy (Magnolia), live in a drafty old house with a family of helpful spiders. When Beatrice is gifted magic yarn from a giant forest spider obsessed with sustainability named Bog Myrtle, she and the spiders set to work knitting up a perfectly warm sweater.

But greedy Magnolia sees only the opportunity for profit, and quickly converts the old house into a magic sweater factory. The exhausted spiders are driven to strike, and Bog Myrtle is not pleased . . .

Bog Myrtle is a witty modern folktale that touches on themes of capitalism, environmentalism, labor rights, and being a nice person.
