WHAT WE'RE LEARNING

This month, Kindergarten worked on their prediction skills, learned about how illustrators worked and created their own illustrations. First grade also worked on prediction and story elements. Second grade had a change to discuss the differences between facts and opinions (and robots), create monster characters and discuss story elements. Third graders examined how characters can change, identified character traits, while fourth graders continued gleaning information from nonfiction texts. Third and fourth grader also reviewed call numbers and completed a scavenger hunt in the library!

NEW BOOKS ADDED THIS MONTH!

"Max is not exactly a perfect kid. From sunup through his school day and right until bedtime, he's goofy, disorganized, and generally uncontrollable--much to the frustration of those around him. But when a little enthusiasm and creativity are in order, you can count on Max to save the day!"--Provided by publisher.

"Do bicycles say cock-a-doodle-doo? Do firefighters shout Ding Dong! before they put out a fire? That's what the narrator of this . . . picture book thinks! Good thing there are some other characters in this book to set him straight . . ."--Provided by the publisher.

"At the start of a new school year Eraser notices best friend Pencil has a dull point, so they must leave the comfort of their desk and venture out to find a sharpener before Stella and her classmates return from recess." - from Follett
